

Senate Favors Spending Slash On Home Front

BY MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate headed today toward a decisive test on a strong bi-partisan drive to cut home front spending. The idea is to provide more money, men and materials to check Communist aggression in Korea and elsewhere.

The first attempt to make a major across-the-board slash in the non-defense expenditures contained in the $34,688,000,000 appropriations bill for fiscal 1951 failed yesterday.

Would Save 800 Million

The Senate shouted down an amendment offered by Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) which he estimated would slash one billion dollars off federal construction projects, supplies, materials, pay-rolls, travel and communications.

In contrast to the Douglas amendment, which found little advance support, the bi-partisan cut proposed by Senators Bridges (R-NH) and Byrd (D-Va.) already has pledges of support from more than 30 senators.

The amendment calls for a ten per cent slash in almost all the non-defense items in the appropriations measure. Sponsors estimated it would save $800,000,000.

Night Session Planned

Although President Truman has asked administration forces to junk it, Bridges has predicted it will get the almost unanimous support of Republicans and enough aid from Democrats to insure passage.

Similar "economy" moves launched earlier this session have gained considerable drive only to be counted out when it came time for a vote.

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois announced he would hold the Senate in a night session tonight, if necessary, to complete action on the so-called "one package" spending bill which contains money for most federal agencies for the year ending next June 30.

Europe Defense Calls For Time

Britain And France Are Key Nations

By CARL HARTMAN

PARIS — (AP) — America's leaders have no hope of defending western Europe from a Russian attack if it comes tomorrow.

But in "X" months—there's a key secret label on the value of "X"—they believe Britain and France can be so strengthened morally and militarily that they could lead a successful stand.

Authoritative sources here who describe that situation say the number of months "X" represents can be shortened if many Europeans are won away from the currently popular attitude of "what's the use?"

That's the view being forcefully argued to the Europeans at North Atlantic pact meetings in London and in man-to-man conferences with officials throughout western Europe. The Americans make no effort to hide it, though they fight shy of putting their names to it publicly.

The Communist attack in Korea and its success have put the razor edge on American awareness of how helpless Europe would be in the face of a full Russian assault. Before, this was understood in a dull and distant way, if at all.

This is the way they now paint the picture:

The Russians, according to British Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell, could put 175 army divisions into the field tomorrow. Western Europe probably could not scrape together 15. While it might not necessarily take 175 divisions to stop 175, it would take a lot more than 15.

Soviet Delegate Malik Defeated In U. N. Wrangles

By A. L. GOLDBERG

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — Beaten in his first attempt as security council president to oust Nationalist China, Soviet delegate Jakob A. Malik comes back for another try today.

He was defeated decisively, 8-2, but he didn't walk out yesterday.

Instead, he remained to trade bitter words with U. S. and Chinese delegates in a long, wrangling council session, and to accuse the U. S. of leading "masked aggression" against Asian peoples in Korea, China, Indochina and the Philippines.

Sir Bengel N. Rau of India, one of the three who voted to oust Nationalist China, said after yesterday's meeting that he regarded it a "good omen" that Malik announced a meeting for today and apparently would attend it.

Malik wound up yesterday's three-hour council meeting, that marked the end of his seven-month boycott, by attacking the U. N. Korean action. He asserted that peace in Korea must be considered along with the question of seating the representative of the Communist Chinese regime.

The Russian deputy foreign minister, somewhat pale and speaking in a husky voice, denounced the Korean action in answer to insistence of U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin that the agenda give priority to a U. S. resolution designed to keep the Korean conflict from spreading.

House Favors More Controls

President May Get Rationing Powers

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House was in a mood today to vote President Truman broader controls than he has requested over the domestic economy, but was undecided how to go about it.

As a final vote neared on the "defense production act of 1950," there was strong sentiment to add to the priorities and allocation authority Mr. Truman wants, to include power to impose rationing and to peg prices and wages.

The decision on how far the House will go toward empowering the president to cope with war-born economic problems was largely up to administration leaders in the House. They were having trouble making up their minds.

Some of them want to give the president only what he requested in a message last week—priority and allocation authority, power to requisition authority to make production loans, and control of consumer and real estate credit and commodity speculation.

That's what the House banking committee recommended, but its leaders are faced with a potent drive to give the president standing by power over wages, prices and rationing.

Truman's Man Is Beaten In Missouri Vote

(By The Associated Press)

The campaign director for former U. S. Representative Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., of St. Louis claimed victory today over President Truman's choice for the Missouri Democratic Senate nomination.

The president's man, State Senator Emory W. Allison, was behind by 7,252 votes with more than 90 per cent of the ballots counted. In 4384 of 4676 precincts the count was: Hennings 175,871; Allison 168,619.

Republican Senator Forrest C. Donnell easily won re-election. All incumbent representatives appeared to have won too.

Setback For Landon

In the neighboring state of Kansas, Republicans nominated Gov. Frank Carlson for U. S. senator and Edward F. Arn, former state attorney general, for governor.

This was a setback for Alf M. Landon, 1936 GOP presidential

Japanese Visit Mackinac Isle

Wonderful Spot, Says Delegation Of 44

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. — (AP) — A delegation of 44 Japanese leaders came here last night for a three-day visit to the North American assembly for moral rearmament.

Mayor Ralph Couls of Mackinac Island welcomed the visiting public officials, business and labor leaders at M. R. A.'s Bennett Hall. He said he was "happy at the privilege of welcoming our visitors from Japan."

Replying for the Japanese, Tokutomi Kitamura, member of the diet and former finance minister, said the delegates had heard about Mackinac but they found on their arrival it was more wonderful than they had imagined.

"People are said to be children of their surroundings," Kitamura said. "Therefore, in view of these wonderful surroundings the people here surely must be very wonderful."

Among those meeting the Japanese here were George W. Welsh of Grand Rapids, former president of the U. S. Conference of Mayors; A. S. G. Hoar, Washington, assistant loan director of the world bank; Mrs. F. E. Powell of Seattle, for 15 years a member of the Seattle City Council and Anton J. Johnson, former congressman from Illinois.

There are 300 persons attending the assembly.

Rain Floods Streets At Iron Mountain

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich. — The heaviest one-day rainfall in ten years reached near cloudburst proportions briefly yesterday afternoon, flooding basements and causing considerable damage in the heart of the city. Pools ranging to 18 inches deep and a block long were formed on Stephenson avenue, the city's main street. The local weather station reported the 24-hour rainfall at 3.54 inches.

Butter Interests Win In Framing Title For Michigan Oleo Ballot

LANSING — (AP) — Dairy interests won a battle yesterday in their efforts to make the title of a popular vote on permitting sale of colored oleo more complicated than oleo interests believed necessary.

The wording of the question was one of three approved by the state board of canvassers to appear on the November ballot.

The two other questions will call for votes on deleting obsolete language in constitutional election provisions and a constitutional amendment authorizing the borrowing of $65,000,000 for building mental and tuberculosis hospitals. No dispute was raised on the wording of these questions.

Proposition No. 1

On the oleo question, those favoring it sought a title which simply announced a vote on the question of permitting the sale and manufacture of colored oleo in Michigan.

Dairy interests favored a title which conformed to the title of the legislative act which was suspended until a popular vote could be held.

The title, which will be proposition No. 1 on the ballot, will read: "Referendum of Act No. 1 of the public acts of 1949, entitled, An Act to Amend Section 1 of Act No. 22 of the Public Acts of 1901, entitled an Act to prevent deception in the manufacture and sale

Formosa Policy Being Revised

United States Arms May Go To Chiang

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Truman administration is considering reversing its policy of no-arms aid to the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa in order to strengthen the defenses of that anti-Communist stronghold.

A final decision by the state and defense departments and the White House is understood to await recommendations from Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who conferred Monday with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek at Taipei, Formosa capital.

Last January Mr. Truman declared a hands off policy toward Formosa, announcing that no military aid of any kind would be furnished. The announcement followed a decision by the administration, that from a strategic point of view Formosa was not worth American military involvement to save it from conquest by the Chinese Communists.

Immediately after the surprise Red attack on Southern Korea, however, the President drastically modified this policy. He ordered the U. S. Seventh fleet to guard Formosa against a Communist attack, on the ground that the outright aggression in Korea made it necessary to safeguard other non-Communist areas of the Far East.

Bloody Counterblow Stops Red Spearhead Plunge Toward Pusan

(By The Associated Press)

U. S. 24th division troops and Sherman tanks recaptured heights east of Chinju today in a bloody counterblow at the North Korean spearhead thrusting dangerously close to the south coast base of Pusan.

But the U. S. first cavalry gave up burning Kumchon at the northwest corner of a shrinking allied perimeter and other Americans and South Koreans abandoned four other anchor towns on the northern front.

Casualties Heavy

Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported that the enemy had launched his "last desperate all-out effort" to drive the Americans out of Korea as the U. S. First Marine division began disembarking at a port a little over 40 miles from the Chinju battlefield.

Sherman tanks, dug in, met Soviet-made tanks in the battle northeast of Chinju. For a time the American counterattackers were threatened with encirclement when the Reds surged around their flanks. There were many American casualties and some tank losses.

But the 24th division troops, veterans of the first fighting in Korea, regained heights at Sangmun, 10 miles east of Chinju, and reached positions at Wobung, five miles southwest of Chungan, a front line dispatch reported.

Marines Well Equipped

This was ground lost Tuesday when the Communist thrust 15 miles east of Chinju toward Pusan.

Washington identified the four National Guard divisions that have been called into National service. They are the 25th from Pennsylvania, the 40th from California, the 43rd from Connecticut, Vermont and Rhode Island, and the 45th from Oklahoma, as well as the 196th combat team from South Dakota and the 278th from Tennessee.

The marines, bringing flame throwers, bigger tank killing bazookas and M-26 tanks of 45 tons, heavier than any yet used in Korea, were met by a brass band, playing "from the Halls of Montezuma."

Teenage newcomers and grizzled veterans of the outfit declared themselves "feeling fine and hot to go."

The fall of Kumchon, about 90 miles to the northwest of the port of debarkation, had been forecast when dispatches reported the rail and highway town was under artillery fire, and that first cavalry troops were holding an arch-shaped front around it.

Air War Steps Up

Twine enemy drives to the South through Koehang and Hyopchon toward Taegu on the railroad, threatened to turn the first cavalry's left flank and cut the division off from its Pusan base.

Along the twisting northern front, the 25th Division and South Korean troops gave up Hamchang, Sangju, Yechon and Andong and withdrew behind the Nakdong river on part of the front. The North Koreans long had been stalemated on this front.

But on the east coast South Koreans moved back into Yongdok, 25 miles north of Pohang.

Indications in Washington were that the air war in Korea would soon be stepped up in scope and intensity with the sending of fresh B-29 bombers to Japan.

The air force flew a record 500 day and night sorties in an effort to check the enemy's most dangerous thrusts. Fighter planes left Chinju and nearby Sochan in flames after a five-hour attack. Pilots reported they destroyed seven North Korean tanks and 45 trucks with rockets and bombs.

Council Meeting Slated Thursday

Much Business Is On Agenda

Information on Escanaba's present gas plant and the proposed conversion plant will be presented by City Manager A. V. Aronson at a regular meeting of the city council Thursday night.

Because the present gas utility will soon need extensive repair, and is currently losing customers because of unsatisfactory service, the city manager has recommended that the city convert to propane gas. The city planning commission last month approved a North 16th street location for the erection of the new plant, but plans are indefinite.

Other business to come before the council, on the "old business" agenda are (1) a request from the Solar Manufacturing company for an addition to the city-owned building used by the company; (2) hearing of legal data pertinent to annexation of property to the city of Escanaba; (3) first reading of a new milk ordinance governing pasteurization and inspection of farms supplying milk in the city; and (4) hearing of a report on new band uniforms to be ordered by the city.

The council also will hear objections to sanitary sewer improvements from Fifth avenue south to Third avenue south between 22nd and 23rd streets and in the 1600 block between North 18th and 19th streets; and to paving improvements in the following locations: 12th avenue north from Sheridan road to Washington avenue, Ninth avenue south from 14th to 16th streets, the 900 block of South 16th street, and Fourth avenue south between South 11th and 14th streets.

New businesses will include the following:

Recommendation for purchase of steam plant coal; consideration of purchase of floating cover for sewage treatment plant; permission for Theatre Duffield company to show fireworks at the U. P. State Fair; and consideration on recommendations for purchase of two street paving machines.

Refugees Big Menace In Korea; Yanks May Have To Kill Civilians

By DON WHITEHEAD

With American Troops In Korea (Delayed)—(AP)—The American soldier must harden his heart and coldly shoot down anyone wearing civilian clothes in the combat area—if he is to protect his own life in this war.

The Americans haven't done it yet. The kids from New York and Ohio and Texas and California with Sunday school background have respected people in civilian garb. And too many of them have paid for it with their own lives.

This isn't the orthodox war of North Africa, Sicily, Italy and Europe where generally the recognized rules of warfare were followed. This is guerrilla war, a sneaking, dirty war where the enemy uses every trick in the book to kill Americans.

"Refugees" are the big problem. They have been coming through the American lines for days in droves.

Some of them are South Koreans fleeing before the Reds. But among them are the guerrillas who spy out American positions, who slip into the hills as snipers, and who harass the Americans from the rear.

The army has been trying to solve this problem by creating a so-called "security belt" from which all natives are evacuated in the combat area. Presumably anyone found in this area would be an enemy and treated as a guerrilla. But it hasn't worked that way.

The reason is that the Americans don't have the flinty hearts of killers with no conscience.

The natives trudge into the American lines along the roads and through the mountains. They come by the hundreds. They carry their belongings on their backs. There is no one to search the bundles and packs—because the army has not the manpower for the job.

And over again the story is the same in every American unit:

A "refugee" is found to be an artillery observer for the enemy—calling down fire on Yank positions. A group slips into the hills and sets up a road block with machinegun fire. A machinegun suddenly opens fire from a flank—and it is manned by men in civilian clothes. The civilians who wandered by American infantry positions in the hills are later on high ground firing on the Americans.

The story is repeated on every unit of the army by angry GIs, and their officers who know how to deal with the problem but who shrink from the stark realities.

This is a war for survival. And I'd rather see Americans shoot down the so-called refugees than to have the "refugees" slaughter Americans.

Perkins-Rock To Have Dials

Telephone Office To Open Aug. 21

A new dial office on M-35, which will serve both the Rock and Perkins areas, will go into operation Aug. 21.

George A. Marcouiller, manager for the Michigan Bell Telephone company, said the new office, located midway between the two communities, will permit the company to meet a growing demand for service at Rock which surpasses the capacity of existing equipment. It also will provide Perkins with its own exchange service for the first time.

The company's rural expansion and improvement program in this area includes an expenditure of more than $200,000, Marcouiller said.

The improvement is in accordance with recommendations made by the Delta County Planning committee, and approved early this year by the Michigan Public Service commission. The commission also gave its approval for the introduction of extended-area service between Rock and Perkins when the "cutover" takes place.

Under the plan, customers in both communities may make calls to one another without paying toll charges.

Marcouiller said the plan was designed to meet the "community of interest" which has grown up between exchanges, including rural areas, and should be as "popular here as at other places in Michigan which have received it."

In preparation for the "cutover," telephone numbers of subscribers in Rock will be changed, and new numbers will be assigned in Perkins. Company installers will make the necessary changes to equipment on customers' premises within the next few weeks. Telephone directories containing the new listings will be issued prior to the inauguration of service.

The installation of the latest type of dial switching equipment in Michigan Bell's recently constructed community dial office building here already is under way.

County Clerks Open Sessions

Record Keeping Is Discussed Here

Record keeping problems and the need for greater uniformity in the forms used were topics discussed by Michigan county clerks in the opening session of their 42nd annual state convention here today.

Francis Reed of Sault Ste. Marie, examiner for the Immigration and Naturalization Service, talked with the clerks on naturalization matters. This work of the clerks is in part connected with their responsibilities as clerks of circuit courts.

In a general discussion session that followed, the county clerks talked of the problem of obtaining greater uniformity in the forms used in keeping records in the various counties of the state.

Brake to Speak

At a luncheon meeting this noon at the House of Ludington the delegates were welcomed to Escanaba by Mayor Peter N. Logan, with a response by William J. Leppien of Saginaw, president of the Michigan State Association of County Clerks.

A banquet with an entertainment program is scheduled for this evening. Invocation will be by the Rev. Glenn Kielberg of Gladstone, president of the Delta County Ministerial Association.

State Treasurer D. Hale Brake is scheduled to speak to one of the convention sessions, although it was not definitely known when he would arrive. The state treasurer will talk in behalf of the Institute for Local Government.

At the Thursday morning session Mrs. Grace Plenta, chief of the vital statistics division of the Michigan Department of Health, will talk to the clerks on keeping and reporting births and deaths registrations.

Thursday afternoon there will be the annual business session with election of officers, and the annual banquet will be held Thursday night at the House of Ludington. All business sessions are being held in the court house. Harold P. Lindsay, secretary-manager of the U. P. State Fair, will be toastmaster at the Thursday night annual banquet.

The convention will close following the hearing of final reports by association committees.

Other association officers besides President Leppien are Vice President Robert B. King of Lenawee county; Secretary Harry Hooker of Newaygo county; and Treasurer John A. Hagman of Livingston county.

Let's tell folks that the party that licked slavery once and expanded freedom can do it again.—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey.

Sell Yourself, Business Told

NAM Speaker Lauds Free Enterprise

If the American people think government handouts and government controls are better for them than the free enterprise system, the fault lies with business and industry for not telling their story.

That's what several Escanaba industrial and business leaders were told yesterday at the concluding session of a conference at the Sherman hotel. The speaker was Russell C. Ross of Los Angeles, a representative of the National Association of Manufacturers.

"The free enterprise system has a good story to tell but it is doing a poor job of telling it," said Ross.

"There are two main ideologies today—and American people must make a choice between collectivism and the free enterprise system."

"Have Faith"

"Negativism takes over when no affirmative or positive action is taken and, when business and industry fail to carry their story to the people, they suffer."

Ross said politicians and union leaders have made business and industry look bad in the public eye and urged business and industrial leaders to tell their stories to the public.

"Have faith in the American people," he said. "Give them all the facts and they'll come up with the right answers."

Ross blamed many employers for doing a poor job of selling themselves to their own employees. "Recognize your workers as human beings. Show them true courtesy," he said. "An employee will give you a dollar's worth of loyalty for a nickel's worth of appreciation and recognition."

Ross said American business can be successful only as long as it provides the public with the goods and services it wants at a price it can afford to pay.

Defends Big Business

Stanley L. Phraner, another speaker, defended big business on the grounds that it aided little businesses and that, in some undertakings, only big business and industry could handle the job.

He said big and small businesses depend on each other and asserted that half of the parts used by big companies are produced by smaller companies.

Phraner said chain stores help independent merchants by their heavy advertising of items which the smaller grocer also handles and by drawing in more prospective purchasers to a community. American people must choose between the free enterprise system with its faults and government planned economy with loss of individual freedom.

Ed Kot, Scout Chief, Resigns

Will Join Staff Of Chicago Council

E. S. Kot of Escanaba, Scout executive of the Red Buck district, comprising Delta, Schoolcraft and the north portion of Menominee county, has resigned to become a staff member of the Chicago Scout Council.

The announcement was made today following the July meeting of the Hiawathaland Council board, when Kot's resignation was received.

Kot will be in Chicago by Sept. 1 to begin his work as district executive of the stock yards area in the Chicago Council.

The resignation was accepted with expressions of regret by the board of Hiawathaland Council and appreciation for his service to Red Buck district during the past three years.

The Hiawathaland Council is now considering applications for a successor to Kot so there will be no break in scouting service in the district. It was announced that it is expected that a trained district executive will be employed before Kot is called to Chicago.

Four Ore Boats Will Be Built

United States Steel Subsidiaries Expand

Recognizing the national defense emergency and the need for augmenting iron ore and limestone carrying capacity on the Great Lakes, two subsidiaries of United States Steel have decided to build four new ships immediately for such service, Irving S. Olds, chairman of the Corporation, announced today.

Pittsburgh Steamship Company, U. S. Steel's iron ore carrying subsidiary on the Great Lakes, will order the construction of three standard bulk type ore-carriers of 18,000 tons capacity each, and Bradley Transportation Company, another subsidiary, which transports limestone to the Great Lakes, will order the construction of one self-unloading vessel of 18,000 tons capacity. All four vessels are similar in type to the largest vessels now in use in both classes. Construction of the ships will be completed in time for the opening of the 1952 iron ore shipping season, which normally begins early in April.

United States Steel announced, on July 19, a program to provide increased quantities of steel to help meet the needs of the present emergency through an increase of 1,600,000 tons in the steel making capacity of the Pittsburgh and Chicago district plants of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, its principal steel making subsidiary. Iron ore and limestone are used, together with coke, to produce pig iron which is the principal raw material in the manufacture of steel.

Ford Disposes Of Properties

Munising Mill And L'Anse Railway Sold

Sale of the Ford Motor Company's property at Munising, and of the trackage of the Arvon railroad, a logging line running out of L'Anse, was announced by L. D. Crusoe, general manager of the Ford division at Dearborn.

Joint purchasers are the Industrial Salvage and Material company, Milwaukee and the Merchants Steel and Supply company of Chicago. The purchase price was not announced, but it was reported the bid was based on the salvage value of the properties.

The Munising sawmill property lies along the shore of Lake Superior, opposite Grand Island. The plant site consists of 30 acres enclosed on all but the lake side by cyclone fence.

Purchased In 1945

The property was purchased by Ford in 1945 from the Jackson Tindle Lumber Co.

Included in the purchase, besides the land, are the sawmill building and equipment, a partially constructed lumber sorting shed, power equipment and foundations and basements for a new boiler house and new engine house.

The Ford logging railroad, known as the Arvon railroad, was constructed in 1937 and extends 23.85 miles northeast from L'Anse into a tract of timber owned by the company. Use of the railroad was discontinued in March, 1949.

Only Trackage Involved The road lies wholly within Ford property and served only Ford, so that no interstate commerce commission or Michigan public service commission action is required in connection with the sale.

Only the trackage is involved in the purchase and the right-of-way will remain Ford property. Obsolete rolling stock recently was sold for scrap.

Delta County's Future Rests
On Employment, Not The Dole

THE time is here when the people of Delta county must face unpleasant facts.

It was a shock to learn that the county as a whole has lost population during the past decade.

Equally shocking is the recent report that Delta county has the "dubious distinction" of leading all other Upper Peninsula counties in the number of direct relief cases. One newspaper in another county headlined the story thus: "Delta County Leads U. P. As Haven For Relievers."

Perhaps this may appear to be the case: that relief clients, denied assistance in other counties, flock to Delta. That cannot be true, however, or Delta would have gained in population, rather than lost.

Undeniably apparent is the conclusion that a thorough examination of Delta county's economic resources is essential if all the facts are to be known.

There is a reason for Delta's comparatively high direct relief load, composed of persons and families who cannot be employed and must receive public assistance. This cost is borne by the state and the county.

Delta county in May, 1950, had 639 direct relief cases, compared to 537 in Houghton, 321 in Dickinson, 338 in Gogebic. Menominee county had but 84 direct relief cases, Chippewa 124.

An examination of additional information, compiled by the Michigan Unemployment Office in Escanaba, together with the direct relief case load in Delta county for the past three years, is revealing.

Since January, 1948, employment has declined, unemployment has increased—and so has the direct relief case load. The figures follow:

	Employed	Unemployed	On Relief
Jan. 1948	9,200	800	365
Jan. 1949	9,000	1,100	476
Jan. 1950	8,850	1,300	712

Statistics cannot tell the whole story. January is the month of lowest employment, of slack times and "off-peak" seasonal conditions. Employment increases during the summer and the number of direct relief cases declines.

The time is here for a complete examination of all the economic and social factors that have a bearing on Delta county's future. If corrective and progressive projects are to be planned, the whole economic picture of the county must be known.

County, township and city officials, civic leaders and service organizations, should interest themselves in a problem that vitally affects Delta's future growth and prosperity.

Delta county seeks to be a home for prosperous workers, not a "haven for relievers."

Mackinac Straits Bridge
And Traffic Safety

THIS summer there has been another epidemic of automobile accidents on highway US-2 between Manistique and St. Ignace.

In many instances, the accidents have been due to speeding. Serious head-on collisions have occurred when speeding cars attempted to pass others.

Why were these cars speeding? That's a difficult question to answer, but it's a good bet that many of the tourists, who were involved in accidents, were speeding to catch a particular ferry boat at St. Ignace.

Scores of persons will tell you about the times they accelerated the speed of their cars to 60, 70 and 80 miles an hour because they wished to make connections at the Straits of Mackinac.

Doubtless a certain amount of this hurried driving on US-2 would be reduced if the proposed Straits of Mackinac bridge were built. Collection of the toll at the bridge would require only a couple seconds for each car, and there would be a continuous stream of traffic across the span, with no traffic jams.

Just how much the state of Michigan should be willing to invest in the saving of human lives is a moot question, but the safety factor is one that should be given serious consideration in connection with the proposal to build a bridge across the Straits.

Fires On Farms Kill
3,500 People Annually

FIRES on farms kill some 3,500 people each year, injure thousands more, and destroy property at an annual rate approaching $100,000,000. To help reduce this loss, farmers can now use a new Farm Safety Inspection Form, prepared by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. It will be sent free, on application to the board at 85 John street, New York City 7.

The new form is easy and convenient. All the farmer has to do is check a series of yes or no answers. The blank was submitted to several of the nation's leading authorities on farm fire protection, as well as farmers, for criticism and suggestions. The comments received were incorporated in the final version.

The check list covers in detail such hazards as lightning, flammable liquids, electrical installations and equipment, and heating systems. These are primary causes of farm fires—as, indeed, they are of all fires. And many a grave hazard goes uncorrected simply because it has been overlooked. The National Board's blank provides a way to ferret it out if it exists.

Fire on the farm is one of the gravest of matters. In many instances, organized fire fighting facilities do not exist. Once a fire starts, it usually finds a wealth of flammable materials on which to feed. It may be completely out of control in a matter of minutes. Under these circumstances, fire prevention should be one of the first and most continuous jobs of every farmer.

Handy Gadget

When the honeymoon is over and they start in keeping house, and the bride has got to cook to feed her ever-loving spouse, he may draw a girl who knows her stuff about a kitchen neat, but more often she's an amateur at fixing things to eat. Then the bridegroom quickly learns there's no more valued friend to man, than that handy little instrument which opens up a can.

It's an unassuming gadget, even harmless in its looks, but it sure has saved the bacon of a lot of novice cooks. When she burns a pot of garden peas or cooks the roast too long, it's the opener that rescues her and ends her woe. If she undertakes a recipe and luck against her goes, she can count upon that opener to which her meal owes.

There is not a bride in this fair land or even cooks supreme, who would be without that gadget which a dinner can redeem. It's a marvel of invention and it keeps a husband fed, and without it, middle-age would never have its well-known spread. We should cherish it because there's no more valued friend to man, than that handy little instrument which opens up a can.

WASHINGTON—A new super-tank will soon be ready for Korean action, that is the fastest, deadliest, and best-armored in the world.

Military leaders say it represents as great an advance in ground attacks as the jet plane in the air. They also predict it will be vastly superior to the massive Russian tanks being used by the North Koreans.

This information was given to a closed-door meeting of the House armed services committee by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff.

General Collins testified that the tank, already in production, will outspeed and outmaneuver any enemy tank it comes up against. Furthermore, it will not only be equipped with weapons capable of "destroying any other tank," including the Russian Goliath, Collins told the committee, but it will have better armor to resist enemy fire.

"In all departments, it is by far the best tank ever produced," Collins declared.

Somewhat smaller than the Russian opposite number, it also is less expensive to build, the chief of staff added.

Chief defects of the Russian tank are its size and lack of maneuverability, which make for an easier target.

"Our bazookas have established that fact," Collins said.

MYSTERIOUS $1,000

The strange story of a $1,000 bill received by a Washington police lieutenant after he tapped the telephone wires of aviation executive Howard Hughes has been reported to the justice department.

The wire-tapping job was entirely outside the regular work of the Washington police and was done on behalf of a Senate investigating committee headed by Senator Brewster of Maine. Other officials of the committee state that they never knew of the wire-tapping, and evidence points to the likelihood that it was paid for by Brewster or his friends, Pan American Airways.

Pan American at that time wanted Howard Hughes to consolidate his Trans World Airlines with Pan Am, and, during the Senate investigation, Hughes said that Senator Brewster himself had urged this consolidation. Hughes even charged that Brewster had him investigated in retaliation for his refusal to get together with Pan American.

The $1,000 bill mentioned in police reports was handed to Lieut. Joseph Shimon shortly after he finished tapping Howard Hughes' wires. Shimon was in the office of the U. S. attorney, where he had a desk at that time, when a man came in and handed him a $1,000 bill. Shimon, according to another policeman who was present, said nothing, but put the bill down on his desk for a moment, then put it in his pocket.

Shimon is the same police lieutenant who tapped the wires in the divorce case involving the Argentine ambassador and also the wires of the late Sen. Josiah Bailey of North Carolina.

SI-A-YEAR-MEN

A hot and significant argument is going on inside the administration on the important question of SI-a-year men. President Truman doesn't want them, but some of his advisers are pressuring to bring an army of SI-a-year men back to Washington.

One-dollar men are business executives who work for the government yet continue to keep their private business positions. They accept $1 a year from the government as a token payment, but continue to draw regular salaries from their own companies.

Some of those men performed skilled and patriotic jobs for their country during World War II. But many, suffering from divided allegiance, seemed to be thinking more of their own companies than their government. And some deliberately came to Washington with the idea of feathering their own business nests.

President Truman, when head of the Truman investigating committee, saw a great deal of this nest-feathering by SI-a-year men and doesn't want it repeated. However, the business advisory council, a group of businessmen advising the commerce department urges otherwise, and Secretary of Commerce Sawyer has backed them up.

POINTERS ON ENGLISH

Heard on the radio, Anthony Eden: "We did not anticipate that matters would turn out as they have done." As they have done what—have done turned out?

This ludicrous use of "done" is a typical Britishism, and it is to be hoped that American Anglophiles will not seize upon it with the same zeal with which they borrowed the equally silly "aren't I?"

In Eden's sentence, the word "done" not only is ungrammatical, it is also unnecessary. Leave out "done," and the sentence becomes good English: We did not anticipate that matters would turn out as they have.

Question: Is it all right to speak of a healthy climate?

Answer: Strictly speaking, healthy means "having health." Healthful means "giving or producing health." Thus: He is more healthy since he went to live in a healthful climate.

Slip of the tongue: "He likes sufficient education."

No. This error is especially common throughout the South and West. "Like" and "liking" must never be used for "lack" and "lacking." Correct: He lacks sufficient education. He is lacking in good manners.

Question: Please give us a ruling on this sentence: "We live (in?) at?" Boston."

Answer: In American usage, it is customary to live "in" a city or state, and "on" a street, as, I live in Boston on Blank street.

Question: I dictated . . . for mine as well as your protection." My secretary changed it to . . . for my, as well as your own, protection." Who is right?

Answer: She is. But the construction is extremely awkward. Better word it: ". . . for my protection as well as yours."

London News Correspondent Gives
Background On Conflict In Korea

From CHRISTOPHER BUCKLEY
Daily Telegraph Special Correspondent
With the Eighth American Army,
Korea

Almost four weeks have elapsed since the North Koreans launched their long-prepared offensive across the artificial frontier formed by the Thirty-Eighth Parallel. In view of General MacArthur's communique announcing completion of the first phase of the campaign, it is important to estimate what has been achieved and to make some estimate of the present situation and future prospects.

Christopher Buckley, senior war correspondent of The Daily Telegraph of London, has been in Korea since a few days after the fighting started there. This dispatch of his appeared in the Telegraph and is reprinted here for the background it gives. Mr. Buckley is an experienced war correspondent and foreign reporter. Among other things, he is writing the history of minor battle of World War II for the British War Office.

As regards quality—No; as regards quantity—Yes. Despite disturbing rumors in the early days, there is so far no evidence of surprise weapons.

Communists' Strategic Aim

This war is being waged by Communist aggressors less as a means of trying out new material—as Nazis and Communists waged the Spanish war—than to seize a quick strategic advantage in the cold war in an area which American military opinion had already written off.

Nowadays war material so rapidly becomes outmoded that the Russians are sacrificing nothing by turning over to the North Koreans "expensible" Second World War armaments which otherwise must have been jettisoned as scrap.

On the other hand, it does appear that the quantity of war material made available to the North Koreans by the Russians was underestimated, as also were recent acquisitions. A number of army lorries captured appear to have come straight from the factories, and their speedometers show they have been run only a few hundred miles.

It is doubtful also whether the degree of integration of these forces into the Russian war machine has been fully evaluated. The men are trained in the Soviet manner, which produces an efficient army by the same utterly ruthless methods by which the industrial machine produces triumphs of engineering.

They are Russian-trained (their training to a large extent, it seems being carried out beyond the Northern border of North Korea), Russian—equipped and Russian-indoctrinated.

Reports which have been circulated about the low morale of North Korean prisoners should be received with considerable reserve. Both in terms of discipline and tactics this is a professional army.

So long as we think in terms of North Korea defying the entire United Nations we shall have got the wrong idea about this war. We should think rather of a Russian-pattern army being committed against forces of a small, unprepared republic and such troops as an unprepared and ill-prepared America could hastily throw in.

3. Has the South Korean Army put up any serious resistance?

There has been considerable misapprehension on this point. Whatever may have happened at the start, of which there have been few objective eye-witnesses, South Korean troops have been fighting extremely well in the line during at least the last fortnight.

That they were taken by surprise and in danger of total disintegration in the first 48 hours is true. In any case their lack of tanks was bound to be a most serious handicap.

70 Anti-Tank Guns

South Koreans did in fact possess about 70 57mm. anti-tank guns which corresponds to our own six-pounder. But in view of the heavy frontal armor of Russian medium tanks there could only have been effective if handled by skilled troops.

Nearly half were almost immediately lost. South Korean forces have as yet had no adequate publicity. Largely because of the difficulties of reaching their sectors to obtain first-hand evidence of their abilities.

But they continue to hold large sections of the front while numbers of troops training in towns behind lines is a most inspiring sight.

4. Was a mistake made in rushing in American troops forward by battalion as soon as they became available, thereby running the risk of seeing them destroyed in detail?

I do not believe any commander in history would have been justified in acting otherwise. To have sat down and built up a bridgehead far to the rear and awaited the arrival of the North Koreans would have been disastrous for morale.

Buying Time

General MacArthur and his subordinates followed the determined strategy of buying time. The aggressors had to be held as far forward as possible.

A mere bridgehead would have given no room for maneuvering and would have gravely curtailed the number of airstrips available for supply and fighter cover and would have left practically no margin to retrieve a single defeat.

There was always a chance that the knowledge of the presence of American ground forces might have affected enemy morale. That hope did not materialize.

But neither did the fear of which we all were most conscious here, that each battalion in turn might be destroyed piecemeal by overwhelming numbers and firepower.

The 24th Division has taken its losses, but it remains a fighting unit, and I personally have never found morale higher than in these last days around Taegon.

5. Has the build-up been as fast as might reasonably have been expected?

While I am not qualified to speak of the movement of troops to the Korean theatre I can speak of what I have myself seen in Korea. The Pusan-Taegon-Taegon road appears to have been used pretty well to capacity.

It is mostly a mud affair, and so narrow that there are innumerable places where vehicles traveling in opposite directions cannot pass one another. Many bridges and culverts are beginning to suffer under an unaccustomed weight of transport.

But Korean civilian labor is busily employed repairing the roads and digging on the by-passes. It is unthinkable what would have happened to these roads had the campaign been initiated in the height of the rainy season.

I wish I could speak in the same terms of the railway, but I am driven to the conclusion that this is not being used to anything like the extent practicable. Too many trains appear to go forward half or three-quarters empty.

It seems illogical that a state of war and emergency should have had such a retarding effect on the speed of journeys. I myself have done two journeys by rail since I arrived in Korea.

One of 85 miles took 14 hours; in the other after the train had taken nearly six hours to cover 55 miles, it sat so long in an intermediate station that I abandoned it and took to the road, feeling that even a wheelbarrow would get me more quickly to my destination.

Delay at Pusan in turnabout appears often to have been grossly exaggerated; nor did I find it reassuring when inquiring at a certain station on the main line

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE LOST MATE—Last year on a vacation trip along the shore of Big Bay de Noc we found the body of a large American eagle. The big bird, symbol of courage and freedom, had been recently killed—shot down by some thoughtless person who perhaps did not realize the eagle is protected by federal law.

This year we observed the mate of the slain bird circling slowly over the shore. A little farther south was the lonely woods and the high tree where they had nested each summer and raised their young.

Returning to the spot by instinct, although without a mate, the big bird with the white-plumed head perched in lonely grandeur atop the nesting tree. Once we heard him scream—a strong, shrill sound that temporarily silenced the clatter of the sea gulls.

PROTECTED — For the last ten years, notes the National Geographic Society, a stringent law against molesting the eagle, its eggs and nest, has been in effect throughout the states.

But it is just lately that legislation has got under way in behalf of the eagles of Alaska, where most of the birds are found today, and where they have long been hunted for bounty prize money. A special measure extending protection to them has already been voted by the House and is now being considered by the Senate.

NOT DESTRUCTIVE—There are a few eagles nesting in Delta county each summer, and one nest can be observed from a main highway within a couple miles of Escanaba.

Lurid tales of eagles that kidnap children and carry off sheep and other sizeable animals have been discredited by naturalists. They may occasionally attack chickens, but they subsist largely on mice, rabbits, squirrels, snakes, and fish.

Most of the fish captured are dead or spent. Their fondness for fish is indicated in the fact that nests are built near the shore of the lakes.

NOT REALLY BALD—While the American eagle is named the bald eagle—he is not really bald.

The eagle's head is well-covered with a plume of white feathers that extend down on the neck. This whiteness in contrast to the dark feathers of the body give the eagle a dignified and impressive appearance. The tail feathers also are white. The rest of the plumage is dusky brown.

THROUGH THE AGES—Because of their majestic size (nearly three feet in length with a wing spread of more than seven feet) the various kinds of eagles have appealed to man as a symbol of national strength. The early Greeks and Romans, as well as numerous nations to follow, adopted the eagle symbol in one form or another.

But the largest of the eagles, and the most beautiful because of its white head and tail, is the American bald eagle.

The bald eagle is a truly American bird. Living only in North America, it was remarkably well painted by Audubon. Yet Audubon was confused and presented two eagles. One was the immature bird lacking the white head feathers and tail.

APPEARS OFTEN — As an emblem of the United States, the bald eagle got its start in 1782, when its likeness was chosen to decorate the Great Seal and coat of arms of the young American republic.

Since then, this symbol has been stamped on all important U. S. documents. It appears on paper currency, on coins and postage stamps, and often decorates the top of flagpoles. It is also shown on the flags of the president, vice president, and other high government officials.

Not only for its national symbolism, but for its beauty and the admiration it arouses, the American bald eagle should be protected for the pleasure of future generations.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. George W. Brown left yesterday for Muscatine, Iowa, to attend the wedding of Dr. Bernice Louise Eversmeyer of that city and their son, Dr. Gerald F. Brown, which is taking place tomorrow.

Lansing—The cavalry departed today for Michigan's National Guard, presumably for all time, and mechanization scored another victory. To meet federal demands, the state agreed to abolish the cavalry units in order to obtain an anti-aircraft regiment sought by Governor Dickinson for the Detroit industrial area.

Escanaba — A suggestion that the city drill a test hole to determine advantages of a well water supply for the city was discussed at length at a city council meeting last night, but was laid over for decision at the next meeting.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Appointment of T. F. Kessler of Escanaba as a member of the state administration committee of the American Legion has been announced by Charles H. The problem of lost children will be considerably reduced at the 1950 Upper Peninsula State Fair Aug. 15-20 at Escanaba.

Every year a number of children attending the fair stray from their parents and pleas are issued over the public address system to reunite mother and child.

This year a lost child section will be established at the fairgrounds and children separated from their parents will be placed in this section until Mom or Dad calls. An attendant will be on hand to care for the children.

London Writer Gives Background On Korea War

When I could expect a train forward, to be told, "Maybe this morning, maybe this afternoon, maybe tonight, maybe not until tomorrow."

The railway must play a big part in the buildup of American strength in Korea, but I cannot feel it is yet working under conditions of wartime urgency.

This is more important in view of the vastly greater administrative "tail" which is carried by American forces in the field than by Slav and Mongol armies. This is a serious problem for the democracies.

There seems to be a comprehensible reluctance to invite a storm of abuse which any suggestion of cutting down comforts for troops would unquestionably produce.

North Korean forces, like Russians, live on the land. They require only ammunition and petrol. The well-meant attempt of the democracies to provide the maximum civilian comforts to fighting men may therefore have to receive reconsideration.

The numerical balance of fighting manpower which is necessarily unfavorable in any conflict with Russia is liable to be rendered even more grotesquely so unless we can somehow diminish the administrative tail.

While the exact data is not available, a highly-qualified officer told me today that in his estimation, while it took nine non-combatant troops to put every one combatant soldier into the line in the American Army, it was most unlikely that in the North Korean Army the ratio was more than two to one. This contrast is most disturbing.

Finally a word about security. I cannot feel that this is yet tight enough. The recent amphibious landing by Americans was the subject of continuous prior discussion all the way back from the front-line infantry positions to the bar of the Press Club in Tokyo.

I myself first heard of it from an American soldier in the front line near Chonan fully ten days before it occurred. He predated it by several days, but showed himself remarkably well-informed regarding the composition of the force and the place of landing. It was perhaps in keeping with

Production Of A-Bomb Explosive Ingredient Reaches High Volume

By FRANK E. CAREY Associated Press Science Reporter

WASHINGTON D. C.—(AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said that since January it has produced a record amount of the explosive which goes into A-bombs.

It also disclosed that it is studying the possibility of making an atomic poison weapon.

In a semi-annual report to Congress, the atomic agency told of a stepped-up program during the first six months of this year, involving "all forms" of atomic weapons, including the hydrogen bomb.

And it hinted that this may have resulted in greater production of atomic bombs by saying that during the six month period "the rate of current operations" in the entire atomic project had "accelerated."

In the same period, the commission said, production of uranium-235 and plutonium—the explosive ingredients used in making atomic bombs—hit "the highest rate in the history of the project." The same materials also are used in experimenting with atomic power for industrial plants and ships.

The commission carefully refrained from saying outright what its rate of A-bomb production was during the six months.

"Atomic weapons and fissionable materials," it said, "were produced at the rate authorized by the president for the calendar year 1950."

It didn't give the rate Mr. Truman had authorized.

It made no statement as to progress on the hydrogen bomb. But it said the atomic program in general had been "recast to implement the president's directive" of last January ordering work continued on "all forms" of weapons, including the H-bomb.

"Decisions were made and plans formed for constructing the new facilities necessary to implement that directive fully," the report stated, adding that these facilities would be "substantial."

Lake Superior Leads In Lake Trout Catch

LANSING—(AP)—The commercial catch of lake trout made a surprising upswing in May and June, the conservation department reported.

The 737,000 pounds of trout caught sent the species into second place in poundage. The catch of lake trout has been declining recently and blame has been laid on the parasitic ca lamprey.

Lake Superior provided all of the lake trout except 11,000 pounds from Lake Michigan.

Whitefish again led in poundage, the catch in the two months totalling 825,000 pounds. Walleyes were third with 599,000 pounds, and the chub harvest of 514,000 pounds was fourth.

The total commercial fish production for the two months was 4,527,000 pounds to bring the six-month total to 9,084,000 pounds. The total 1949 catch was 25,000,000 pounds.

Husband Needs
Outside Interests

By RUTH MILLETT

Is a husband entitled to spend some of his leisure time in the company of other men or should all his nonworking time be spent with his wife and family?

That question is raised by a wife who resents the fact that her husband plays cards one night a week with a congenial group of men and leaves her alone another night or two a month to attend lodge meetings or other affairs.

What's so bad about that? There's nothing in the marriage agreement that says that either a husband or wife has to spend every leisure hour in the other's company.

If neither the husband nor wife ever feels the need for individual friends or interests, then they'll have one kind of marriage.

But who is to say that it is the best kind? The man who is interested in other things besides the job and home can be just as good a husband as the so-called "family man" so many women think they want.

And as he grows older he'll probably be much easier to live with.

Grandmother Offers Good Advice

Not long ago I heard a grandmother say: "When I was young I used to get mad at my husband when he went anywhere without me. But now that all he wants to do is sit around in my way when ever he's off from work he nearly drives me crazy. So I tell my daughters: 'Let your husbands go out when they want to. It's not nearly as hard on a woman as having a man around the house who doesn't know what to do with himself.'"

That's pretty good advice, I think, to the young wives who never want their husbands out of their sight. Force a man to give up all his outside interests and leave him nothing but job and home, and one day he is likely to have become so dependent on his easy chair he'll just be in the way.

Friendship Is As Good As Glamour

By RUTH MILLETT

It started out as one of those "Why do you suppose he ever married HER?" marriages.

Jim was exceptionally intelligent, amusing, self-assured, Louise, the girl he fell in love with and married, seemed ordinary to Jim's friends. She wasn't very pretty. She certainly wasn't as bright as Jim. And while she could laugh easily at another's cleverness, she had no sparkling wit of her own.

That was 10 years ago. Today people have quit wondering why Jim married Louise.

In her quiet, unobtrusive way she has shown them. She has made Jim's friends her friends—not by dazzling them, or outdoing them, or impressing them—but by being a good friend.

It is Louise who always seems to have time, to do the small helpful little things at exactly the right moment. And she always does them in such a way that it seems she is doing them for her own pleasure, not as a do-gooder at all.

Makes Guests Feel at Home

It is Louise whose home is always open to guests. She doesn't entertain in a manner meant to impress. She just offers her guests the best she has, makes them comfortable, gives them a feeling that it is wonderful to have them around, and then lets them shine.

She does the same for Jim. She takes good care of him, doesn't compete with him, and seems content to let him play the star role in the family.

So people no longer wonder why Jim married Louise. If a woman has enough character, enough true kindness, and enough appreciation for other people she doesn't have to dazzle. Given a little time she will become accepted for herself and will have all the friends she needs, simply because she knows how to be a friend.

Eggs absorb odors of other foods and never should be kept near such items as fish, onions and the like.

Eight-Foot Steel Ball Cuts Trees In Montana

NOT A GROUNDED "SAUCER." This is an eight-foot steel "highball" used to clear forests in a hurry. Although the tree that's just been snapped off here looks as if it would hit the tractor in left background, it's just a photo illusion.

HUNGRY HORSE, Mont.—(NEA)—Heavy eight-foot diameter steel balls are being rolled over Montana forest lands, toppling huge trees like so many bowling pins.

These four and one-half ton balls are an important part of a weird new method devised for clearing timber lands. It's dubbed the "highball," and it is proving just the answer for persons plagued with the problem of clearing land as economically as possible.

Some months ago, lumbermen S. L. Wixson and J. H. Thiedel, of Redding, Calif., received a contract from the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation for cleaning out 7210 acres of burned-over land. It's part of a 22,500-acre tract which eventually will be covered by water, as a reservoir behind Hungry Horse dam.

Using lots of imagination, the two hit on the idea of using a pair of diesel tractors to drag up to 500 feet of two-inch wire cable through the burned-over area, snagging down all the trees and brush caught in the loop.

Then came a contract for clearing the rest of the reservoir area. This land had been logged over. That meant stumps, and stumps can catch cables easily. So the contractors tried out eight-foot steel balls, to keep the cables four feet above ground to prevent snagging on stumps.

The cables are attached to each side of the big ball. Each of two tractors in the team is equipped with winches. When all the cable is let out, the tractors are anchored against trees or stumps. Then the cable is reeled in, with the ball holding the line high enough to escape the stumps.

The cable and ball are brought crashing through the timber as fast as a man can walk. Timber, brush and burned-over snags fall

Gloria Bonifas William Bilgen Wed At Isabella

ISABELLA—Miss Gloria Bonifas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Bonifas of Isabella, and A. William Bilgen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bilgen of Lake Linden, were wed Saturday, July 29 at a double ring ceremony at the Bethany Lutheran church at Isabella.

Evergreens and white peonies banked the altar at which Rev. Leonard Mounders of Toulon, Ill., a close friend of the family, performed the marital rites.

Forrest Hamilton, a fraternity brother of the bridegroom, sang "Bless This House" and "Through the Years," accompanied by Richard Miller of Detroit.

The bride who was escorted down a white-carpeted aisle by her father, wore a rosepointe lace gown with a long train, fitted bodice and net yoke outlined in seed pearls. Her silk illusion veil was fitted with bands of satin outlined in seed pearls. She wore matching rosepointe lace mitts and head dress.

Mrs. Neale Olmstead of Detroit, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was gowned in white imported organdy over light green taffeta. White net gloves and headpiece and a bouquet of yellow roses completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Jack Ebbi of Manistique, sister of the bride, and Miss Mathilda Schullich of Waukegan, the bridesmaids, wore identical gowns of white organdy over dark green taffeta. They carried bouquets of talisman roses.

Samuel Erwin of Farmington, Mich., served as Mr. Bilgen's best man. Richard Bonifas of Flushing, Mich., brother of the bride and Leonard Bilgen of Hubbell, Mich., brother of the groom, were ushers.

Mrs. Bonifas chose a navy sheer with matching accessories a white rose corsage for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Bilgen wore an aqua suit with matching accessories and a pink rose shoulder corsage.

Home Reception

A reception for 200 guests was held at the bride's home which was decorated with seasonal flowers.

Centering the table was a tiered wedding cake and three miniature bride's attendants, gowned like the maid of honor and two bridesmaids. Mrs. Paul Hintz of Sheboygan, Wis., and Mrs. William Bonifas, aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake. Mrs. Mardel Hintz of Fond du Lac presided at the punch bowl.

For her wedding trip the bride wore a toast linen dress with eyelet embroidery and a white box jacket. Toast and white accessories completed her costume.

The couple left on a honeymoon trip of undisclosed destination. On their return they will make their home in Detroit where the groom is employed.

The bride is a graduate of Lake Linden high school and the Grant School of Nursing in Chicago. Mr. Bilgen is a graduate of Hubbell high school and the Detroit Institute of Technology. He is a member of Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity.

Starfish Threaten California Harbor

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—(P)—When starfish first invaded the harbor in large numbers, city officials were glad to see them. They had planned to spend $1,400 to have mussels removed from dock pilings and figured the starfish would save them the trouble and expense.

Sure enough, the stars went right to work. But they didn't stop with the pilings. After the mussels were eaten they went after the barnacles on the breakwater. Barnacles hold the big rocks together even tighter than cement.

If the starfish keep eating, city officials say, they may weaken the breakwater so much that a storm will wash the rocks out. But so far they haven't figured a way to get rid of them.

WINNER TAKES CALL

It's only natural to want to match your skill against the other fellow's. Here's a story about keen, friendly competition that means something to you.

LET's look in at any one of the scores of Michigan Bell switchboards. Here, four, six, eight, ten, a dozen or more young ladies are seated before identical switchboard positions. They might be local, long distance, information or assistance operators. And, if you watch, you sense a very real competition going on.

The moment a subscriber picks up the telephone and calls an operator, a little white light shows up on each of several switchboard positions. Under each light is a little hole, known as a "jack," into which the operator inserts a "plug" to take the call. As soon as one operator places a plug in the jack, the light for that line goes out on the duplicate switchboards.

And that's where the competition comes in: For you can see the operators trying to get that call first! The moment one of them completes handling one call, she gets ready to take the next, holding the plug in her hand, poised for the instant another white light shows up.

As you can imagine, telephone operators get a sense of satisfaction out of beating their teammates to the draw. It's the fun anybody gets out of trying to do a job a little better than the next person.

And Michigan Bell operators figure that fast and friendly telephone service gives you, the customer, your money's worth.

Guardsmen To Get Good Food

Cooks To Receive Pre-Camp Training

Food service personnel of Co. D 107 Engineer Combat Bn., will be the first local guardsmen to invade Camp Grayling, historic training grounds of the Michigan National Guard, when they leave Tuesday of next week to participate in a pre-camp training school, Capt. Edward J. Doyle, company commander, announces.

The personnel of the local unit who will participate in the three day training school for camp cooks, is headed by Sgt. Junior Gray, Manistique Heights.

Local guardsmen after a hard day's work in the field are scheduled to sit down to such dishes as fried chicken, baked potatoes, baked ham and sweet potatoes, apple pie, fried chicken, meat balls with spaghetti, grilled pork chops with apple sauce, baked fish fillets and numerous other delectable viands.

Mess personnel of Company D at Camp Grayling will be supervised by Lt. William Bauman, N. Houghton Ave., mess officer.

Estimated cost of food for the more than 6,000 Michigan National Guardsmen at Camp Grayling is $163,000. In addition to their regular meals at the base camp, local guardsmen will eat "C" rations when they participate in overnight bivouacs and unit field problems.

Canadian Farmer, 71, Accused Of Buying Girl, 17, For $700

VANCOUVER, B. C. — (AP)—Police accused a 71-year-old farmer of buying a 17-year-old girl for $700.

The farmer, the girl's 18-year-old brother and a sister-in-law were charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency by "aiding and abetting a fraudulent marriage contract."

Their names were withheld pending further investigation. Police said this is the way the deal was worked:

At the wedding ceremony here last Friday, the girl's brother posed as the bridegroom and the farmer represented himself to be her father.

After the so-called marriage, the elderly man took the girl as his wife and turned over the $700. Investigators said $500 was to go to the girl's mother and $200 to the brother, but added that the mother was unaware of the arrangement.

Ore Shipments Top Last Year

Look For Biggest Year Since '44

Spurred by war-gear demands for steel, shipments of iron ore from the two Chicago & Northern Western docks at Escanaba in July were above those of the same month a year ago and indicated that 1950 will show more tonnage loaded than any year since wartime 1944.

Ore is still coming to Escanaba from mines in three iron ranges—Menominee range, Marquette, and Gogebic.

The mines are now operating at peak capacity and shipping to the ore ports as fast as they can, just as it was back in the wartime years. Receipts of ore at Escanaba for July totaled 719,313 tons, the largest tonnage for any month since Sept., 1944.

Even at top speed shipments the demand for ore by the nation's steel industries is not being met. Total ore shipments from all Great Lakes ports is still 12 million tons behind this date last year, due to the late navigation opening last spring.

Lee McMillan, C&NW ore dock agent, reported that 736,773 tons of ore had been shipped from Escanaba in July, compared to 564,210 tons in July a year ago.

The total ore tonnage shipped this season to Aug. 1 was 2,402,097 tons compared to 2,312,874 tons to that date in 1949.

It is expected that the movement of ore will be stepped up rather than slowed during the rest of the season, with prospects that a total of 4,750,000 tons will be shipped from Escanaba this year. This will be the biggest year since 1944 when 5,778,300 tons of ore were loaded out of Escanaba.

Peak year was 1943, when 6,330,565 tons were loaded to meet wartime demands.

H. F. Gustafson Named President Of Grange Mutual

ENSIGN, Mich.—Harold F. Gustafson recently returned from the annual policy holding meeting of the Grange Mutual Fire Insurance company in Westford county court house, where he was reelected a director and president of the company.

Director Virgil E. Gridley of Petoskey was reelected and Earl Richards of Mt. Pleasant was elected a director to fill a vacancy.

Officers were elected at a subsequent meeting of the board of directors. Gustafson, who has been a director since 1925 and president since 1941, was reelected. George Cathro of Alpena was elected vice president, succeeding the late Neil McDonald of Coleman.

The directors heard reports on the year's business and adopted broader changes in fire loss adjusting.

Chatham Experimental Farm Scene

Farm Round-Up Friday Marks U. P. Progress

By JOHN W. FITZGERALD, Michigan State College

When the thousand or more Upper Peninsula farmers visit the U. P. Experiment Station at Chatham for the Farmers' Round-up next Friday, August 4, they will tread on soil that has helped revolutionize agriculture in the region during the last half century.

Mid-century celebrations are being held throughout the nation and the Upper Peninsula's iron ore industry celebrates its hundredth anniversary this year. Russell E. Horwood, director of the Chatham station, invites farmers to participate in the celebration of 50 years of agricultural experimentation at the U. P. station.

It was on New Year's day, 1900, that L. M. Geismar became the first superintendent of the Chatham station, which was authorized by the Michigan legislature a year earlier.

View Experiments

Instead of the 20 acres that were cleared for cropping the first year the branch station of Michigan State College was established, farmers will find a total of 827 acres. More than 250 acres are tilled.

Visitors to Farmers' Round-up on August 4 will see the current versions of farm crops experiments that have been conducted through the years.

Horticulture work is under the direction of Norman Reath, station horticulturist, who is striving to find strains of sweet corn, berries, beans, lettuce, and larger fruits that suit U. P. growing conditions. These test plots will be part of the tours during the Round-up, beginning at 10 a. m.

The Dairy Program

The pioneer workers of Chatham early realized that dairying would be an important part of Upper Peninsula agriculture. Just how right they were is indicated by the fact that dairying now accounts for 50 percent of the farmers' income in the region. Value of U. P. milk and milk products in 1949 is estimated at more than 18 million dollars. The first dairy animals were added to the station in 1913. The original six registered animals have grown to today's Holstein herd of more than 20 head with individual records as high as 500 and more pounds of butterfat annually.

The herd is serviced by artificial insemination. Careful checks on diseases such as mastitis, tuberculosis, and Bang's have helped to earn widespread recognition for the Chatham herd.

William F. Lutz, extension livestock specialist, will be on hand to show the herd and talk with the farmers about dairy topics.

Poultry and Crops

With the help of J. M. "Mac" Moore, Michigan State College extension poultryman, the early-hatched chick plan was developed. New Hampshire were chosen as the breed for the purpose. By hatching in late January, the chickens were ready for the laying house and do their heavy laying when eggs are needed most, and prices are highest.

Farm crops play an important part in feeding U. P. cattle, sheep and chickens. Sales of cash crops continue to raise income. Returns from crops in 1949 made up 20 percent of the region's farming dollar. More than six million dollars came from crops.

A. R. Wolcott, research agronomist at Chatham, points to the Bond Oats as one of the most significant out-growths of tests.

Recent years have seen the advent of crop tests through all sections of the peninsula. Every county has test plots, designed to fit its varying climate and soil conditions.

Expect Thousands

Facilities at the station consist of barns, poultry houses, residences for the staff members, and other necessary farm buildings. Camp Shaw, the adjoining 4-H Club camp, is an annual host to more than 500 Upper Peninsula 4-H Club members. Club camp this year runs from July 31-August 3. Farmers' Round-Up is set for Friday, August 4, to allow farm families to attend the all day event before the young people leave for home.

State Revises Security Laws

Legislative Action Asked In Lansing

LANSING—(P)—Governor Williams said today he would ask the Aug. 15 legislative session for a new law permitting the state to take advantage of new federal social security laws.

The new state law would permit the social welfare commission to take advantage of a federal plan to take over some of the load of caring for totally and permanently disabled persons.

The new federal law was expected to be passed by Congress this week to become effective Oct. 1, 1950.

Under the new plan, the county would be relieved of all costs for the care of the disabled. The state would continue to contribute its present share. The federal share would be three-fourths of the first $20 spent every month on each person and half of the next $30.

Under present state law, the state can only participate with the federal government in specifically named welfare categories. The governor said it was necessary to include the disabled to permit taking advantage of the new plan.

The governor has already announced he will ask the legislature to supply money for civil defense planning.

In a survey of the effects of other amendments to the federal social security act the governor said that proposed increases in old age and survivors' insurance benefits would affect about 13,000 Michigan residents.

The increase, he said, would mean that about 7,000 will no longer need state supported old age assistance and aid to dependent children. This will save state welfare funds.

Red Korean Officers Commit Hara-Kiri To Avoid Being Captured

TOKYO—(P)—An American intelligence officer said today that rank and file Korean officers above the rank of second lieutenant had been captured.

"They invariably kill themselves before we can grab them," he explained.

This was the first high official evidence that Koreans in the face of capture are committing hara-kiri, a former traditional practice of suicide among Japanese who considered themselves disgraced.

The bag of prisoners is extremely small, the officer said. Only 17 were captured yesterday. He did not say how many Reds had been captured since the war started.

It also was disclosed that the Kelly family has brought civil suit for $15,000 against Maki. Maki posted $1,000 bond for release until his appearance in circuit court.

Industrial Deferment Rules Being Drafted

WASHINGTON—(P)—The defense department is expected to announce within 24 hours policies for deferment from military service of men in critical jobs and industries. The deferment rules would apply both to draftees and reservists.

Fishermen Stranded On Granite Rock In Lake Superior Storm

MARQUETTE, Mich.—(P)—A party of four fishermen remained stranded on barren Granite Rock today and Coast Guards were planning to send a crew to bring them ashore this afternoon. The four—reported by commercial fishermen to include boat owner Leo Doucette and three persons who chartered his vessel for a lake trolling trip—were forced to seek shelter on the small island, about eight miles north of Marquette, when winds whipped up a storm on Lake Superior late yesterday afternoon.

Chief boatswain Mate Stanley W. Clark, temporarily in charge of the Marquette Coast Guard station, said three of his men took a boat to the island last night, but the four fishermen declined to leave because several members of the party were seasick. Their boat, the "Silver Cap," was anchored about 30 feet from the edge of the island.

The Granite Rock light now is an automatic device and no one has been stationed there for several years. The fishermen could find shelter in the light house, but no provisions are kept there. Late Superior showed no signs of abating today.

Dupont Makes Hydrogen Bomb

Government Turns Over Responsibility

WASHINGTON—(P)—The government today apparently gave the Dupont company top responsibility for developing the hydrogen bomb.

An atomic energy commission announcement provided that hint.

AEC said only that the big chemical firm has been selected to design, construct and operate new facilities to produce materials for atomic weapons or fuels potentially useful for power purposes.

Company officials at Wilmington said "the project is of vital importance to the security of the United States."

The AEC said the new plants will be of "advanced design and their operation will provide new knowledge that will speed the progress of the atomic energy program."

Where the new plants will be located has not yet been decided. Dupont and government experts have been looking for a site, expected to cover some 200,000 acres.

President Truman recently requested congress to appropriate an additional $200,000,000 for the atomic energy commission, most of it to be used to further work on the H-bomb.
